AI IMAGINED:

CONCEPT DEVELOPMENT IN MIDJOURNEY

Artificial intelligence is poised to become a defining force in the future of design, but for me, it is already an integral part of my creative process. Rather than replacing design, it acts as a collaborator that expands intuition and accelerates exploration. The following pages present images created in Midjourney as visual studies of mood, silhouette, texture, and proportion, with a focus on fashion editorial and fashion design.

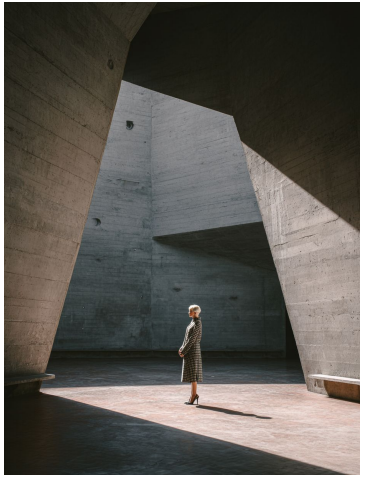
backstage fashion

These images reflect a quiet, intimate moment within the fast paced fashion world, they exists somewhere between backstage reality and dreamlike memory. Showcasing a soft diffused light, the closeness of the subjects, and the subtle tension between movement and stillness. The dewy skin, undone hair, and delicate textures evoke a sense of vulnerability and effortlessness, capturing a fleeting moment. In designing these, I explore a modern femininity: romantic yet grounded, polished yet imperfect, where garments feel emotional rather than staged. Together, the images form a narrative of quiet connection and understated luxury, inviting the viewer into a space that feels both personal and cinematic.

fashion portraits

Portraits centered around softness, intimacy, and natural presence. They are closely framed to emphasize the face, texture, and subtle expression, with a consistent use of diffused light and muted tones. The styling is delicate and understated, with lace trims, fine knits, and lightweight fabrics. The compositions are designed to feel calm and unforced, with gentle gazes that create a sense of quiet connection. The images portray a romantic aesthetic, where simplicity, softness, and closeness define both the mood and the visual identity.

fashion in motion



These images reflect a controlled design spirit, with a focus on clarity, structure, and the relationship between garment and space. I focused on clean lines, sculptural silhouettes, and a restrained color palette to emphasize form over decoration. The compositions highlight a sense of direction and purpose, mirroring the precision of the designs themselves. Movement becomes an essential element in expressing this idea. Through these images, I explored simplicity and movement as a way to convey both discipline and fluidity within a controlled visual language.

These images center on a sense of closeness and shared presence, where softly lit group compositions create an intimate and unified mood. The diffused, glowing light enhances the delicate textures of lace, ruffles, and lightweight fabrics, The images convey a quiet, nostalgic atmosphere and a collective expression.

Quiet, self-assured, and effortless in motion. The mood balances confidence with urban ease, captured through a street-style lens, where soft natural light and everyday surroundings frame a sense of independence, simplicity, and understated strength.

street style

Captured in motion and outdoors, these images convey strength through both action and stillness. Functional yet refined styling and natural light create a clean, purposeful aesthetic, expressing a quiet balance between sport and everyday life.
